

Just a couple of things to consider from an industry employee and concerned voter: We all want our highways to be safer, but you'll have to get all of the enforcement agencies to follow the same definition of "reckless driving" and enforce it the same way. I have seen many MVR's with "reckless" driving listed for infractions such as: Squealing tires; improper backing and many other items. This will definately require some cooperation from all enforcement agencies. Thank you for your time.
